

September 21, 2017

Northern Lights

Weekly News and Notes from Hanna,
Elk Mountain, and Medicine Bow Elementary Schools

Notes from the Principal

It's been an exciting homecoming week with most all of our students getting into the Miner Spirit. All three schools were visited by students from H.E.M. who stressed the importance of community, enthusiasm, and hard work. We have great schools because we have great kids and support from all three towns. Thanks for your support in sending them dressed for the occasion and ready to learn.

Our mid-quarter parent-teacher conferences were a success and we truly appreciate the great turnout and the information that you shared about your kids. Our next conferences will be held on December 5 and will be optional by teacher or parent request. This will also be our fall book fair and more information on conferences and the book fair will be coming out soon.

On Tuesday as I watched some of our students walk out to the bus in a snowstorm wearing shorts and flip-flops, I remembered how fast the weather can change in Wyoming. This is a reminder to make sure your kids are dressed for the weather and with the idea that the weather you send them to school in may not be the same as when they come home.

This is also a reminder that this Thursday folder is an important means of communication. Please make sure you go over the contents and discuss progress reports, work samples, and other information with your child. If their progress at school is important to you, it is important to them.

Enjoy the homecoming games and festivities. Go Miners!

-Mr. Shipp

Our Town

Our town is special because some First Graders live here. Hanna is small. We all live in different houses. We have very sunny skies in Hanna. Some of our other friends live here, too. Sometimes it snows in September. Hanna is a fun place to live!

-by the HES First Grade Class

Next Week

•Monday

•Tuesday

Lifetouch school pictures-all schools
4:30 JHVB Game at HES

•Wednesday

•Thursday

•Friday

No school for staff or students
1:00 JHVB Game in Baggs

H.E.M. students build morale with our elementary students during homecoming week.